Learning Objectives

Upon completion of this course you will be able to:

1. Demonstrate understanding of the basic Internet protocols (e.g., http, sftp, ssh, smtp, pop3, etc.).
2. Code valid and well formed HTML5 and CSS3 using a text editor.
3. Create styles for formatting and page layout using rules based on Cascading Style Sheets.
4. Organize and maintain the directories and files on a website.
5. Apply web design best practices to the web pages and sites you develop.

Instructor Expectations

1. I expect you to check our Canvas classroom (or the course website) and your email at least 5 days per week so I can be sure you are aware of any announcements or changes I have made to the schedule.
2. I expect you to contact me by email and/or voicemail if you're having problems with the course or encounter an emergency that interferes with your course work.
3. I expect you to complete the reading and course activities on time and by yourself.
 - a. Assignments more than one week late will not be accepted unless you have made other arrangements in advance with me.
 - b. Assignments copied partially or completely from other students (past or present) or from the solutions provided by the textbook author or from the Web, will receive a grade of 0 and you will be reported to the Vice President for Student Development Services.
4. I expect you to use the Web and its resources in an ethical way. Please don't steal/borrow content from other websites (images, photos, text, etc.) and make sure you get written permission if you do include someone else's content in your own web pages.
5. If you have questions about assignments or the course content, please post them to the "Questions/Problems/Answers" topic in our Canvas discussion board.

ADA / Disability Services

Any student with a documented disability (i.e., physical, learning, psychiatric, vision, hearing, etc.) who needs to arrange reasonable accommodations is requested to contact Disability Services (206.934.3697 or TTY 206.934.0079 or ds@seattlecolleges.edu) and me at the beginning of the quarter. The Disability Services office is located in the College Center Building in room CC 2346A. The Seattle College District Policy on Reasonable Accommodations for Students with Disabilities is available at <http://seattlecolleges.edu/district/policies/policies.aspx?policyID=pol387>.

Assignments / Graded Activities

1. There will be 9 assignments, each worth 20 points. Most of these assignments will consist of web pages that you'll create and post on the web for me to review. You'll receive an account on our student web server named "compass" and use it for publishing all your web work.
2. There will be 10 quizzes, each worth 10 points. These short quizzes will give you an opportunity to measure how well you understand the material in the textbook. You may submit them up to one week after they are due but late points will be deducted.
3. There will be a final project worth 150 points that will allow you to demonstrate the HTML5, CSS, and web design skills you've developed during the quarter. Parts of the project will be due throughout the quarter and the completed project will be due the last week of the quarter. This will represent 25% of your final grade.
4. All the assignments, quizzes, and final project parts will have clearly marked due dates and must be turned in on time unless other arrangements have been made, in advance, with me. Late assignments will result in a reduction of one point per day.
5. Each assignment requires that you complete the assignment for the previous chapter in order to learn the new concepts and skills presented in the next chapter. Therefore, assignments will not be accepted if they are more than one week late.

I expect students to communicate in a timely manner with me if they have unexpected circumstances that prevent them from participating in the class and submitting assignments. A grade of NC will be granted only if there has been sufficient communication and the student falls within the official guidelines for receiving non-numerical grades. Those guidelines can be found at <http://www.seattlecolleges.edu/DISTRICT/catalog/ccprogressgrades.aspx>.

An Incomplete ("I") is an option that can be considered if "the student performed at a passing level, completed most of the course requirements, and intends to make up the missing work... during the following quarter." If you qualify for an "I" we will sign a written agreement that identifies exactly what work will need to be completed and the date by which that work is ultimately due.

The last day to withdraw or change to Audit status is Friday, February 27. If you stop submitting assignments without contacting me you risk getting a 0 in the class. Please process an official withdrawal if you can't complete the course. This can be done online by going to the Student Information Services Kiosk.

Communication Methods

Communication is an essential part of learning and is especially important in an online class. Here are the communication methods I'll be using this quarter.

- Email - I check my email frequently and will respond to your messages within 48 hours but almost always sooner. This is my preferred method of communication.
- Google Voice – Call me at 206.438.4483. If I'm not available, leave me a voicemail message. We can arrange a time to talk that's convenient for both of us in advance, too.
